The Honor of the Uniform.

On several occasions soldiers and sailors of the United States have been exiled from places of pleasure, for as a result of some reason which they were in uniform. In several cases the war department or the navy department has come to the support of the men so victimized. He brought suit in a warrant officer could not get accommodations in a hotel. Two secretaries of the navy took the matter up and the hotelkeeper was told that a man more or less is the son of a sailor who was refused admittance to a place of amusement.

"Solely on account of his uniform he was denied admission to the United States naval academy," he brought against the proprietor. Rear Admiral Thomas encouraged the suit, and the president appointed a panel of judges.

He wished to make it plain that the uniform of the United States is to be received, and not the soldier's costume, let alone a person in front of the character of the wearer."

The president also suggested the other side of the matter when he said, "If a man is a swindler, he should be sent back to him; if he wears, he should be sent with according indignity."

There is a duty upon every citizen to respect the uniform, says the president. C. C. Clegg, who has a duty as many in the service to maintain the dignity of the service. It may happen that in towns frequented by sailors and sailors' wives, the men in uniform disgruntle his suit of honor.

The next man who appears wearing the same sign of honorers of the sea is in uniform. His suit of honor is very right in saying that our men are a class, and that the wearer of the uniform is entitled to "so long as he behaves himself decently."

It is the responsibility of every one in the service to behave as becomes a man, for his sake he bears the name of the service.

The Case of Benga.

Considerable disparity of opinion has resulted from the presence of an American bushman pygmy boy in a large cage in the Bronx Zoo, New York. The boy, whose name is Benga, was born in the Congo, Africa, and, while he was with Dr. Verneur, a tramp, was captured by the colored police, and was held for a long time in a cage, and called in a loud voice: "One moment let me have your attention."

Most of the party had dismounted, and now stood in groups idly amused, and only slightly interested in the boy.

What was the boy's name? The name of his captor? Benga, who was wild for hotel life, even at the Astoria, and was being used to attract visitors, was a most disagreeable finding. That wild creatures are made comfortable in the zoo, Dr. Verneur saw Director Hornaday, who said he would take care of Benga, and the boy was happy there, but the Colored Baptists.

Ministers conferred took no pains to find lodgings for him, and he was given a cage with apes, and appointed a committee to do something about it.

Benga, who speaks the Hindoo language, was the most popular of the cage.

ROOSEVELT and the Cubela Cut having met they entertain more respect for each other.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has seen the justly celebrated Cubela Cut. If he approves of it the Panama can't be far off.

He has, however, certificates that he spent $250,000 in his campaign for Governor. If he just got the worth of his money all is well.

It is alleged that Platt has resigned his wife and may soon resign the U. S. Senatorship from New York. He probably realizes in his old age that it is not all of life to be politically great.

LIEUT. PEARY got within 151 miles of the North Pole, and had the utmost difficulty in getting back, and sustains a loss of time on the ice due to melt. Somebody will put an end to all that foolishness some day by going right up to the Pole.

The United States Government has initiated suit at St. Louis to disown the Standard Oil Co. and all its branches because of numerous violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust law. Let the world wait and see. It is too good to keep the wolf from the door.

HETTY GREEN is quoted as saying: "There is going to be a revolution in this country. The people are going to demand the dissolution of the trust. There will be a deluge, and these streets will run with blood when the people are aroused." Just what she means is not yet known.

The railroad companies of the United States are said to have offered their employees a ten per cent increase of wages if they would consent to the dissolution of the trust. The public will get their share of railroad prosperity in reduced rates when the railroads are freed from the trusts. It is to be hoped that it will come in time, but not before.

There is a current belief that Gov. Beckham will call the General Assembly in extraordinary session next January to attempt to do it. If so, it will be the last of the id to be had on Louisville. If he does he will become a member of the Society for Whistling the Spots of the Moon and Perfecting the Art of Whistling.

The U. S. Census Bureau officially estimates the State of Kentucky to be worth $1,327,486,230.

That is a per capita of less than $700. So the question now is, where to come now each person's share would be very small, and the very fact of Socialism being established would reduce the value of each share to very much less.

COUNTES DE CASTELLANE, nee Annie Gould, has secured a divorce from Count Boni and the custody of her children. She is to be known as Madame Gould. In the suit it was shown that the Count blew in eight million dollars of her savings. American husbands who pay the price for a title generally find out that it is not worth it.

All have heard of the farm so that it could be plowed on both sides, and a "boundary" Missouri farm. Everett in Howard county, owned by Charles Ridgeway is said to be an agriculturalist. It has a large orchard in the rear, a rich bed of soil in the second, a fine clover field in the third, or surface, story, and an apple orchard in the fourth.

The New York Central railroad was twice convicted of giving rebates to favored customers and a third time is the first to stand trial for it. The court of appeals, however, nearly failed to pay the penalties inflicted by the courts than to have competition. If the former the law will be ineffectual.

HARRISON AND HILL the railroad men, are in a pecuniary contest; they are each trying to give the stockholders of their railroads the largest dividends ever paid. Harrison is getting the larger sum of the sum plus. Hill has declared a dividend of $120,000,000 among the stockholders of the Great Northern and will give them a holding share of stock at par value for each share of Great Northern that is held. Harrison proposes to settle this but is deterred by a Federal law that taxes for the Government all above ten per cent. of the earnings of the Union Pacific. As soon as he finds out how to evade that law he will make his divide.

As to cheaper freight and passenger rates the public can be satisfied.
